

Reducing Parental Conflict

Introduction

This course is intended for practitioners who work with children, young people or families. It was designed to raise awareness of what is meant by 'parental conflict', recognise the differences between parental conflict and domestic abuse, understand the impact that destructive conflict has on children and young people and recognise positive ways to communicating.

Audience

This course is intended for practitioners who work with children, young people or families.

Objectives

The Learning Outcomes are:

1. Awareness of what is meant by 'parental conflict.'
2. Understand the impact that destructive conflict has on children and young people.
3. Recognise the differences between parental conflict and domestic abuse.
4. Be able to recognise positive ways of communicating.

Modules

This course contains the following modules:

Module name

Reducing Parental Conflict

Content